

SAD LIBS

BRING OUT THE DEAD!

Dear _____,

I wanted to tell you this in person, but I knew that you'd get all _____ and cry and shit. You know that makes me feel like _____. So, I decided to push this note under your _____ and run away instead. I know you'll understand.

Last night your _____ called me and told me that your _____ died. He/She was hit by a _____ while _____ing. He/She died _____ly and I guess that makes it better, but not really all that much better. But hey, we gotta take what we can get, otherwise life would be horrible.

The cops told me to tell you that there was _____. The corpse can be claimed at _____. You should get down there right away before it begins to _____. Or someone misplaces _____.

If you want to come over later, after you're done crying, or whatever, please don't hesitate. We can talk and play video games. I just got an X-Box!

Until next time,

HEY, VENEREAL DISEASE!

Dear _____,

Remember that rash that showed up last week? Well, it wasn't poison ivy. I went to the doctor today and he told me I had a bad case of _____. I got it from _____. I guess we should have been using _____ last week like you suggested. But I can't get into it with a _____ getting in the way. It just takes the mood out of it, you know? Well, regardless, I am beginning to feel we should have _____ anyway.

The doctor said the first _____ will be the inability to _____ and then pus will start seeping from your _____. The doctor said it clears up in about a _____ for women, but for men its permanent. Sorry to be the one to tell you, but _____ from now on is out of the question. With anyone, but especially with me. No way am I letting you _____ your _____ in my _____.

Hope everything goes okay.

It was nice knowing you.

Sincerely,

YOU'RE FIRED

After your last performance review and annual summary of you professional profile, I am _____ to inform you that you are being _____.

To begin with, we've had complaints that you often smell of _____. Our company handbook states that you are not allowed to wear _____ to the office. We've had _____ grievances filed against you for sexual harassment. "_____" is not a compliment anymore these days.

We hereby give you a _____ day notice of termination. All of us on the Board are very happy to get the chance to sack you. We never liked you and this is a pleasure. Please remove all of your personal belongings from your _____ by _____ O' clock on _____. You must also turn in your company _____ and _____. No taking home toilet paper or paperclips. We counted every one. We'll know.

Your final paycheck may be mailed to you at home. If we get to it. Meanwhile, it may benefit your career if you took some courses in _____.

Best wishes,

FENDER BENDER

To whom it may concern,

Thanks to the city's _____ design of parking spaces, I ended up hitting your _____ while trying to squeeze into a parking spot. What do you expect, your vehicle is _____? It seems only fitting that you should take up _____ spaces while I get to park in _____. Just because your car is more _____ than mine doesn't give you the right to _____. I think your car is a piece of _____. Frankly, I'm _____ that I hit your damn _____. Maybe you'll learn a lesson.

Actually, in all honesty I have seen your car around _____ before, and I always wanted to _____ it. But I didn't hit you on purpose, and I can prove it because you weren't in the car at the time. Trust me if I was going to _____ your car I'd at least make sure you were in it.

I'm uninsured so use your cell phone and call someone who _____!

Happy trails,

(Don't sign name)

I'M PREGNANT, YOU LOSE!

Dear _____,

I know I told you I was using _____ as birth control, but I lied. I don't even know what it is.

Please don't be _____. I just love you so much and we've been fighting and _____ing lately and I didn't want to lose you.

I know you're _____ right now, but just wait. Please at least think about it. But even if you leave me, at least I'll have the baby to remind me of you.

I think we should get married and give this baby a _____ family. You know that would be the right thing to do. You wouldn't _____ your own child would you?

Please don't ask me to get an/a _____. You know I'm religious and don't believe in _____.

Just remember that if you don't marry me, I'll have to tell the _____ about our age differences. You know I'm only _____ years old and you are _____. In some states that's considered _____, except in Mississippi.

Your honeybunch,

IT'S EASY TO OUTGROW YOU

Dear _____,

This is very _____ for me to say but I think it is only fair I tell you.

There's a reason why every time you invite me out I'm too _____ to go with you. I'm sure some of my excuses seemed a little _____. Like that time I told you I caught the _____. I was so embarrassed when I told you I was _____ and we wound up in the same movie theater. I didn't think you liked _____ movies and I thought it was safe.

The truth is I've been avoiding you. I know we've been friends for _____ years, and I'll never forget that _____ donation you gave me to save my _____. You named your _____ after me and gave me your _____. That's why this is so hard to say. I just feel like we've grown _____. We don't have that much _____ anymore. Sure we had good times _____ing and _____ing but let's face it we're not _____ anymore. These things happen. I hope there's no _____ feelings.

Your old pal (but not anymore),

We Write The Letters You Can't!

SAD LIBS

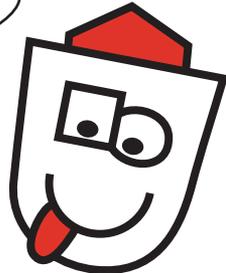

If you just wrote a letter that says:

Since using your product my butt has begun to swell , and my face became grossly red . I will be contacting my dog , as soon as my taste comes back to me and I no longer need adult diapers.

Then you have been playing a pretty immature parody!

A PARODY!

a collaboration between siblings

THE CARBON BASED MISTAKE

and

© 2003 marc and rae calvary
all rights reserved.

www.thecarbonbasedmistake.com